2017/18 Issue No. 5

January 2018

Sunday Celebrations 10:30 am

— January 7 “Restful Intention”

-Rev. Margaret Weis

In a world that asks us to always be doing more and more, what does it look like to take an intentional break? What does the concept of Sabbath teach us about resetting, refueling, and reconnecting in an intentional way? Join us as we reflect on these ideas.

Special music by Ben Pawlak, piano

— January 14 “An Arc of Possibility”

-Rev. Margaret Weis

We often speak of good intentions and the importance of having them in our daily lives. But what if our good intentions have a bad impact? We will explore the complicated relationship between intention and impact together through music, word, and community.

Special music by FUSIT Choir/Pick Up Choir

— January 21 “One Day at a Time: Recovery and Intention”

-Rev. Margaret Weis

Together we will explore the ways that many twelve-step programs and other ways of living in recovery can be supported and enriched by religious community and intentional living. All of us, those living in recovery and those who are not, have something to gain from this exploration.

Special music by Xak Bjerken, piano

— January 28 “It’s so rivery, this world”

- Jeff Collins

“A vast and silent emptiness, full of sound and fury, but no thing ever found. My neighbor .... I wonder how she is” (from a very old Chinese poem)

Special music by Roberta Crawford, violist

Ministerial Musings

*Come into this place of peace and let its silence heal your spirit;
Come into this place of memory and let its history warm your soul;
Come into this place of prophecy and power and let its vision change your heart.*

- Rev. William F. Schulz

One of my favorite parts of ministry is crafting Sunday services that are engaging, challenging, and interesting. Here at First Unitarian, I am grateful to work with some of the most talented and dedicated staff in Unitarian Universalism. I am also grateful to have a great team of laypeople (members of the congregation) who collaborate with me to create our Sunday services. With the new addition of the aesthetics team, our sanctuary has become a great place to experience, ponder, and reflect on our monthly themes.

We are using the Soul Matters materials to help integrate these themes into our congregational life together. What this means is that our small groups, religious exploration programming, Sunday services, and other aspects of community are using these themes to influence conversation, reflection, and community involvement. If you are interested in learning more about the Soul Matters materials, check out their website here:

www.soulmatterssharingcircle.com and keep a look out for the monthly link to the packets in the newsletter and weekly announce. Also, if you have ideas of how to further integrate these thematic approaches into our congregational life, please let me know!

You may have noticed that we are trying some new things in our Sunday services together. Sometimes the music is woven into the sermon, or we will go right into singing a hymn without an introduction. These are examples of how Stephanie, Jennifer, and I are seeking to create a flow in the service that allows us to become more immersed in the experience. We appreciate your willingness to try these new things, and hope that you'll continue to engage with our experiments with an open heart and mind.

This month I will gather with many of my Unitarian Universalist colleagues and other interfaith clergy at the Unitarian Universalist Minister's Association Institute for Excellence in Ministry. While there, I will engage in a multi-day workshop with Dr. Marcia McFee. Dr. McFee is a talented and inspiring creator of transformational worship, held in high regard. Last year, your Celebrations Associates engaged in a day-long training with Dr. McFee. I hope that my time with her will help to enrich the ongoing inspiring, creative, and engaging worship experiences at First Unitarian.

As we reflect on our monthly theme of “intention,” I hope you'll think about how we are intentional in our Sunday services together. I invite you to reflect on the ways that you bring intention to your involvement at the congregation, and your life during the week. What are the ways that your intention reflects your values and hopes for yourself and the world? How does your engagement with this community enrich those things?

*Take good care,
Rev. Margaret*

History Project of First Unitarian

You probably know that First Unitarian of Ithaca is now 150 years old! In honor of this milestone, a book on our history is in the works. And we want you to take part. Please join us as we reflect on our church by sharing memories, hopes, and stories about our building, our ministries, and people we have known and loved. Sessions will be held at 9:00 am on Sunday, January 7, 14, and 21, as well as 7:00 pm on Wednesday, January 17. All sessions will meet in the Arch Room and will be facilitated by Walt Peck. This is an opportunity for both seasoned and newer members and friends of the church to share and to listen as we seek to live out our mission and vision, so all are encouraged to attend.

Pachamama Alliance presented by Jennifer LeBaron

The Awakening the Dreamer Symposium is a transformative workshop designed to help you tap into your personal potential to create a thriving, just, and sustainable world. The workshop is presented by over 4,000 volunteers in 78 countries!

Our Mission

Our mission is to create connection, find inspiration, and engage the world. Connect, Inspire, Engage.

A Pastoral Message from Rev. Weis

We live in challenging times. Our country is experiencing an uncovering of sexual assault and abuse by people in power nearly everyday. These patterns have existed for millennia, and now people who have been victimized are speaking openly and honestly about their experiences. Many are feeling relief that silence is being broken. Others are feeling confusion and sadness that icons in this community and this country are imperfect people. Still others are wondering if it is safe to speak about their experiences.

As Unitarian Universalists, we strive toward a world where everyone is treated fairly and justly. We also acknowledge that we are all imperfect beings and that we have a responsibility to own the impact of our actions – whether well-intended or otherwise.

Here at First Unitarian we are working on ways to build a beloved community with the values we hold dear – justice, love, and compassion. One way we have done this is by creating a congregational covenant, the words for which you can find here:

<https://unitarian.ithaca.ny.us/wp-content/uploads/2017/12/2017-Congregational-Covenant.pdf>

We are learning to live into this covenant and discern the ways that we can create a community that is safe and caring for all. In order to do this, we are working on policies and other guidelines to help people navigate and prevent instances where there are power imbalances, or where words or actions may make another person feel uncomfortable.

So what does that look like – to live into covenant, particularly with consideration to safety and boundaries? Here are some ways that we can live into our shared covenant, and make safer spaces in the congregation and our daily lives:

1. Always ask someone if you can hug or touch them beforehand. Where children are concerned, ask their parent for permission. Everyone has different comfort levels with physical contact and it is important to respect those boundaries.

2. Remember that intention is important, but so is impact. You may not have meant to hurt someone's feelings or make them uncomfortable, but the impact of your actions matters.

3. If someone tells you that you've made them feel uncomfortable, carefully listen to them and seek resolution together. We want to foster a sense of agency for the people in this congregation to be honest about their comfort and setting good boundaries.

4. Know that there are people here to listen to you. I am here to listen, as your minister. Ann is here to listen, as your Director of Religious Exploration, and so are the staff and other leaders in the congregation.

We are all in this together. Know that we are committed to creating environments that are nurturing, caring, and that encourage honesty and healthy boundaries.

In faith and fellowship,
Rev. Margaret

Margaret Weis about your needs. This fund is kept confidential, and only our minister will know of your utilization of it.

Possible Ponderings

January 7 - 13: What dictates your days? Your To-Do list or your intentionality? Do you begin by asking, "What do I have to get done?" or "What do I want this day to be about?"

January 14 – 20: How are you doing at the work of intentional authenticity? Are you succeeding at being the same person on the outside as you are on the inside?

January 21 – 27: Are you serving a purpose or living a lifestyle?

January 28 – February 3: Are you too intentional? Is it time to put down all the "doing" and pay a bit more attention to "being"? Has your long list of intentions left you feeling exhausted and even lost?

Help Needed to Provide Lunches for the Friendship Center

We need two more volunteers for January 2 and three volunteers for February 6 to provide 15 bag lunches each to the Friendship Center.

Lunches must contain a sandwich, a piece of soft fruit (no apples) and a cookie or other small dessert and be prepared within 24 hours of delivery to the Friendship Center at 531 State Street, Ithaca, between 9:30 and 11:30 am. Your expenses can be reimbursed by the Social Justice Council: keep track of what you spend and contact Jackie Jablonski at jackiejab@me.com.

The Friendship Center is a safe supportive drop-in center run by Ithaca Rescue Mission that serves three free meals a week. Our congregation provides 60 bag lunches on the first Tuesday of every month. For more information, please contact Jackie Jablonski at jackiejab@me.com.

Exploring Unitarian Universalism

You are invited to come 'Explore Unitarian Universalism' with Rev. Margaret Weis on Sunday, January 7, from 12 -2:30 pm in the Library!

Please join us for an opportunity to share your personal journey in spirituality. Participants are asked to bring something that symbolizes your spiritual journey and they will get a chance to ask questions. We will also provide a historical framework of the origins of Unitarian Universalism.

Please RSVP at the Welcome Table or by emailing memcoord@uunithaca.org

New Aesthetics Ministry Team!

*The recently formed Aesthetic Ministry Team has big plans!
Would you like to help?*

Created to help enliven our already lovely buildings and spaces, the Aesthetics Ministry Team will be engaged in some exciting new work this winter! Working with Reverend Margaret and the Celebrations Team, starting in January the Aesthetics Team will decorate the sanctuary with (tasteful, of course!) adornments reflecting the worship theme of the month. Each month, the decorations will change, to provide visual cues as to the shifting themes.

For this, we need your help!

If you've got some good ideas about what images/decorations/colors, etc. should be used to emphasize a particular theme, please share them with the Aesthetics Team! The upcoming themes for the winter/spring are:

- January: Intention
- February: Perseverance
- March: Balance
- April: Emergence
- May: Creativity
- June: Blessing

If this sounds exactly like the kind of church work you'd like to do, please join the Aesthetics Team! We welcome any and all to help with this work!

Email Team Leader Susanne Quagliata: suzms1@botmail.com or team member Laura Free: laurafree5x5@gmail.com for more information and to join the team!

Thank you!
